A first impression

An architecturally very interesting property awaits you here in a quiet and sought-after location in Unterbach, from where you can enjoy a fantastic view of the greenery of the 484 m² plot. Successful split-level architecture, light-flooded rooms and a generous room concept with a wide range of possible uses are just some of the highlights of this special house. The house was built in 1980 in very high-quality and solid construction and has been continuously maintained by the owners, so that the good substance and the well-kept overall impression of the approximately 218 m² of living space are immediately noticeable upon entering. Nevertheless, some modernization work is necessary to bring the house up to today's standards. The entrance hall on the entrance level already opens up various views of the living area below with its corner fireplace and through the large panoramic windows of the living room to the garden area with its deep, elongated plot. There is also a small gallery and a guest WC on this level. An open staircase next to the gallery leads to the dining area above this level with a semi-open kitchen and a spacious south-west-facing balcony. From there, a few steps take you to the next level with a spacious bedroom including a generous en suite bathroom with bathtub. Next to it is another smaller room, which is ideal for use as a study. This level is complemented by another large bedroom with its own shower room, electric sun blinds with a view of the beautiful garden and a small pantry-kitchen. This level is complemented by another large bedroom with its own shower room, electric sun blinds with a view of the beautiful garden and a small pantry-kitchen. Finally, the open staircase leads to the spacious attic area, divided into two open levels, which are offset by a few steps, have high gable ceilings and offer plenty of potential for expansion. The garden around the terrace is beautifully ingrown and therefore hardly visible and also has a beautiful south-west exposure. Somewhat lower in the living area is the fireplace area with a brick seating area, which is ideal for lingering by a cozy open fire. In the basement of the house there is also a spacious utility room, a boiler room with laundry room and a still-functioning Finnish sauna with shower area. In the basement of the house there is also a spacious utility room, a boiler room with laundry room and a still-functioning Finnish sauna with shower area. This attractive offer is rounded off by a garage in the house and an outdoor parking space in front of it. The family-friendly and easily accessible location in Düsseldorf Unterbach rounds off the offer. See this rare offer in a sought-after location for yourself! You are welcome to get a first impression of this property with our 360° tour, which you will receive with our exposé. Of course, we would also be happy to arrange an appointment with you on site.
