All about the location

Felanitx is home to wine, almonds and apricots and is located on the south-east coast of the island of Mallorca, slightly inland in the Migjorn region. It is an old and rather quiet town with good connections to the larger town of Manacor, which has become more attractive in recent years. Felanitx has been a center of agriculture for centuries. The landscape is dominated by vineyards and plantations, the latter of which are mainly almond and apricot plantations. In spring, the scent and blossom are a delight to the eye and the senses. The wine-growing region, which is very popular and has expanded far beyond Manacor's borders, has produced excellent wines in recent years. The landscape of Manacor and Felanitx is partly hilly and wooded, partly flat and extensive, ideal for those seeking peace and quiet and nature lovers. The beautiful harbor towns of Portocolom and Porto Cristo and the romantic bays on the east coast as well as the beautiful beach of Cala Romántica are only a 15-minute drive away. The airport is around 46 km away and the town of Lluçmajor around 26 km.
