All about the location

Fauglia is a small cozy town located in the province of Pisa, in the region of Tuscany, Italy, located about 20 km southeast of Pisa Galileo Galilei International Airport and Livorno Port and is well connected to major cities such as Florence and Siena thanks to the nearby highway network. The capital city, a basket of medieval origins, which had its last urbanistic configuration in the 19th century, is located on the top of a ridge that dominates from above the surrounding hills, characterized in part by forest vegetation in part by olive groves and vineyards. Going down towards the plain we find Agriturismo, farms such as I giusti e Zanza, L'ucelliera, and the Caseificio Busti that produce wines, and cheeses, appreciated all over the world, also for those who wish it is possible to book directly in the Farm the tasting of the products. In the historic center of Fauglia, food lovers will find at the historic restaurant La Gattaiola an ideal and cozy place where the warm atmosphere accompanied by the kindness of the managers will make it pleasant to discover the typical dishes of the area. Art lovers, on the other hand, can visit the museum of the famous Faugliese "Macchiaiolo" painter Alvaro Marioni.
