A first impression

Elegant early 20th-century villa in the heart of Milan. Behind the Conservatorio, the interior overlooking a charming private garden with tall trees and the exterior overlooking the little-traveled Via Donizetti offer special privacy and tranquility. During the 20th century, as the home of Milanese writer and playwright Luigi Santucci, the house was a crossroads of art and culture. On the basement floor are frescoes by painters Giuseppe Novello and Mario Vellani Marchi. There are two floors above ground with an old-fashioned staircase around which the spaces are distributed. On the attic floor opens a splendid little terrace that is already a solarium. The style is reminiscent of London houses, both in plan and interior furnishings. On the mezzanine floor: entrance hall, eat-in kitchen, checkroom, bathroom and double living room. On the second floor: two bedrooms, two studies and a bathroom. On the second floor: two bedrooms, a bathroom, a kitchen, and a large living area. On the attic floor: an attic and a terrace/solarium. Private garden of 130sqm.
