A first impression

Charming apartment in an old building in Friedrichshagen - ideal for owner-occupiers and investors Welcome to this cozy first floor apartment in the garden house of a historic apartment building, which was designed by the renowned architect Hugo Abbé and built in 1909. The listed building is located in the popular Scharnweberstraße, just a few minutes' walk from the idyllic Müggelsee lake and the promenade in front of the Spree tunnel. The apartment impresses with a well thought-out room layout on approx. 44 m² of living space: a spacious living room/bedroom, a spacious kitchen with dining area, a stylishly tiled shower room with window and a hallway with practical storage space. Completely renovated in 2018, the apartment presents itself in a modern, attractive condition - high-quality laminate flooring, tasteful furnishings and a fully equipped fitted kitchen including washing machine make it ready for immediate occupancy. A cellar compartment offers additional storage space and the well-kept inner courtyard with garden invites you to relax. This property is particularly attractive not only for owner-occupiers, but also for investors. Thanks to the sought-after location and the furnishings, an above-average yield of over 4% can be achieved when renting out. The apartment is rented until 30.04.2025 and will then be vacant. The convincing location in picturesque Friedrichshagen, one of Treptow-Köpenick's sought-after districts, combines the best of both worlds: proximity to the forest and water and excellent connections to Berlin's city center. Bölschestraße with its charming stores, restaurants and cafés is within walking distance, as is Friedrichshagen S-Bahn station. For leisure and nature lovers, the surrounding area offers numerous opportunities - from sailing and surfing to relaxing walks along the Müggelsee lake. Take advantage of this rare opportunity to acquire a charming old apartment in one of Friedrichshagen's best locations - either as your new home or as a lucrative investment.

All about the location

Geography: Friedrichshagen, a place of longing for stressed city dwellers, is an old villa suburb on the north-western shore of Lake Müggelsee. Founded by the famous Prussian King Frederick II in 1753, this district lies on the eastern edge of Berlin and is considered the most attractive residential area in Köpenick. The area is a magnet for discerning people and artists who are looking for peace and quiet, the proximity of woods and water, but still don't want to miss the connection to the big city. Friedrichshagen has a population of around 19,064 in 2021. Location / traffic: Friedrichshagen is well connected in terms of transportation with its S-Bahn station on Berlin line S 3 (Spandau - Erkner) and the B1/B5 as well as the Berlin freeway ring (A100) are within easy reach. Alexanderplatz can be reached within 40 minutes via these routes. The proximity to Berlin's BER airport is also significant. The town's main street is the popular Bölschestraße - a great place for strolling, shopping and dining in various restaurants and pubs. The surrounding villages in the direction of Rüdersdorf can be reached with the Schöneich streetcar (line 88). Line 60 takes you to Johannisthal and line 61 provides a connection between Friedrichshagen and Adlershof. Infrastructure: The infrastructure is very well developed, with a grammar school, schools, daycare centers, doctors, banks and plenty of shopping facilities including organic markets, and there is also plenty of culture here. The popular shopping street, Bölschestraße, is a particular highlight and a popular place to stroll with its various stores, restaurants and cafés. A weekly market on the central market square also offers fresh products from the region. Economy: The Friedrichshagen waterworks is located on both sides of the Müggelsee dam. In addition to restaurants and cafés, there are numerous activities to satisfy the hunger for water sports of all kinds. Many sports clubs have their roots here and have a large number of members. Leisure / nature: Thanks to its direct location on the Großer Müggelsee, water sports enthusiasts can enjoy many opportunities for surfing, sailing, kiting and motor sports. A variety of art galleries and small and large painters hold openings and training sessions, and libraries organize language courses in the evenings. Friedrichshagen has always remained an artists' village alongside its many sportsmen and women.
