Une première impression

There are places where you immediately feel a very special energy. Places that cast a spell over you and don't let go. Places where you have never been before and yet immediately feel at home. Such a unique place of power is "Arboris": a modern-alpine retreat by the larch forest, on a sunny high plateau in South Tyrol's southwest. Near the golf course, on the edge of a quiet residential area, the unique project is being built. Two comfortable villas with private gardens nestle in an enchanting forest. A wellness loggia with panoramic sauna is integrated into the garden of each villa. The construction is characterized by a lot of privacy, light-flooded rooms with generous window areas, high construction quality and high-quality turnkey equipment.
