Az els? benyomás

A countryhouse in the hills, an oasis of peace and relaxation, a new construction entirely built from scratch in 2005 with care and respect for the art and building culture of these places, thanks to the use of natural materials such as stone, terracotta-effect stoneware and wood. The property until recently home to a restaurant business is already structured and ready to be used as a restaurant, pizzeria and inn with 8 double rooms with private bathrooms and independent access from the restaurant. The halls can accommodate up to 170 covers, with an equipped and adequately sized industrial kitchen. In the basement rooms serving the business. The size and volumes present, lend themselves to a single dwelling of important dimensions or to make two or more semi-detached housing units with shared spaces, for families who appreciate living in harmony with nature in a stone and wood house, surrounded by greenery and the quiet of the hills sharing a rural lifestyle.
